WHO ARE YOUNG LEARNERS?

The background features a light green balloon at the top left, a light blue balloon in the middle left, and a light purple balloon at the bottom left. Yellow streamers and triangular flags are scattered around the balloons.

'Young learners' is a broad term that covers children from 3 to 12 years old.

According to the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child, 1989, "A child is defined as anyone who has not reached their 18th birthday irrespective of the age of majority in the country where the child is, or their home country."

Although these age groups are seen as representing one group, there are, in fact, distinctive differences between what children of 7 years old can do/comprehend and what children of 10 can do/comprehend.

WHY ARE AGE GROUPS DIFFERENT FROM EACH OTHER?

The underlying reason is that when we consider children, we need to consider four related but separate developmental areas- physical, cognitive, socio-emotional, and communicative growth.

According to Piaget (1970), children at the «Sensorimotor» and «Preoperational» cognitive development stages (up to age 7) are highly egocentric.

They function with the «here-and-now» principle. They do NOT understand what is not present and concrete in their own environment.

At the «Concrete operational» stage (ages 7 to 11), children become less egocentric, and more aware of the outside world and events. Their thinking becomes more logical and organized, but still very concrete.

At the «Formal operational» stage (ages 12 and up), they can grasp and deal with abstract concepts and relationships.

They become more aware about the social behaviors, social rules and customs of their society.

HOW CAN WE TEACH GRAMMAR TO YLS?

We CANNOT!

Trying to teach grammar in a traditional way, isolated from context, is useless with young learners.

- Pure grammar is too complex.
 - It is too abstract.
- There is too much of it.
 - There are too many irregularities and suppletive forms.

- Grammar cannot be isolated from the context.
- We don't use grammar for the sake of using it. It is the servant, not the master. We use it as a means of achieving communicative goals.

- Children cannot analyze grammar.
- People do NOT learn the way the traditional methods teach.

HOW CAN WE TEACH SIMPLE PRESENT TENSE TO YLs?

We CANNOT!

Children focus on the use (i.e., meaning and function) of a grammar point.

They do NOT care about the usage (i.e. form and notion).

A function* is the communicative purpose for which language is used e.g. asking for information, giving information, apologizing, inviting, making suggestions, etc.

A notion is the conceptual meaning of any type

e.g. time, duration, direction,
size, frequency, cause,
equality, existence,
ownership

The background features three balloons: a light green one at the top left, a light blue one in the middle left, and a light purple one at the bottom left. Each balloon has a thin streamer and is surrounded by several small, yellow, triangular shapes that resemble confetti or streamer ends.

Simple present tense (or any other tense) has many meanings and functions.

Children can focus on ONE meaning and function at a time.

 - To give instructions or directions,
 - To express fixed arrangements, present or future,
 - To express future time, after some conjunctions: *after, when, before, as soon as, until

HOW CAN WE TEACH VOCABULARY TO YLS?

MY FAMILY

Choose relevant and related words to teach.

Teach words in context.

Limit the number of words to teach (5 - 7 words) in a lesson.

Try to use as many channels
(or senses) as possible.

Use visuals (pictures, videos, realia, etc)

Act out to demonstrate and ask them to act out

Don't forget to recycle and revise.

It is possible to teach some structures as «chunks» or «cliches» such as:

What's your name?

My name's

How old are you?

I'm

Teach language (grammar, vocabulary and pronunciation) in contexts that children are familiar with.

Make sure the materials you use are motivating, engaging, interesting and fun.

dramatization

stories

The national curriculum by the MoNE asks the teachers to avoid the use of L1 in the classroom and refrain from the Grammar-Translation Method.

A language teacher SHOULD be able to communicate with the students in the target language.

- Using simple language
 - Paraphrasing
- Using body language and gestures
 - Demonstrating

L1 can be used if the teacher needs to deal with emotional issues.

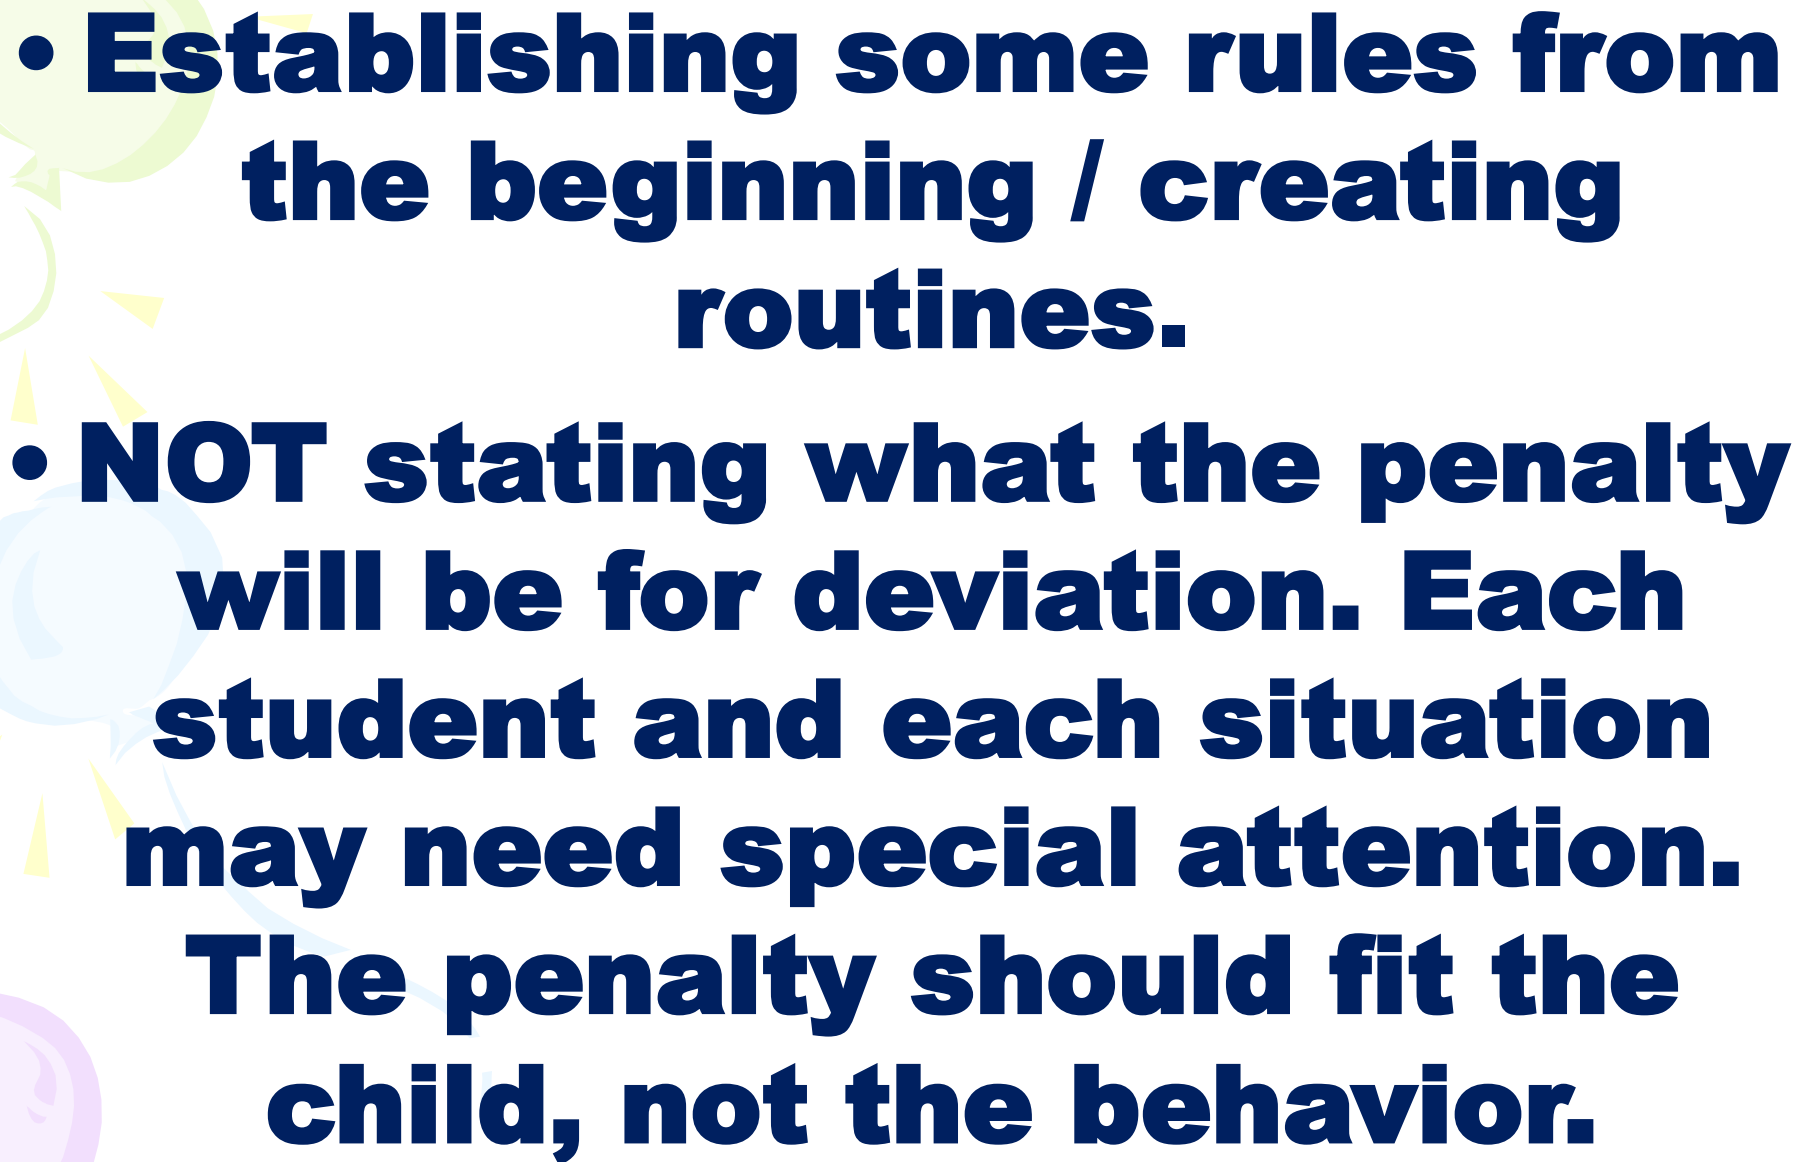

WHAT IS THE KEY TO EFFECTIVE CLASSROOM MANAGEMENT?

When classroom management is the case, keep in mind that PREVENTION IS BETTER THAN ANY REMEDY.

- Establishing some rules from the beginning / creating routines.
 - NOT stating what the penalty will be for deviation. Each student and each situation may need special attention. The penalty should fit the child, not the behavior.

The Pygmalion effect in the EFL classroom

(high expectations of someone seem to increase the person's performance)

vs

the Golem Effect

(low expectations lead to a decrease in performance)

Pygmalion Effect

- Someone's high expectations for another person result in high performance

Galatea Effect

- An individual's high self-expectations lead to high performance

Golem Effect

- Loss in performance due to low leader expectations
