Job Description: To ensure that faculty members and staff working in the Nursing Department work in communication and collaboration throughout the accreditation process, and to contribute to the effective accreditation process by evaluating the program aims and outcomes of the nursing department within the process.

Duties, Powers, and Responsibilities:

- It prepares the necessary documents for the application during the accreditation process.
- Prepares the Self-Assessment Report.
- The nursing department is responsible for initiating the accreditation process.
- The Nursing Department collaborates with other committees regarding its educational activities in accordance with the standards set by the Nursing Education Evaluation Accreditation Board.
- It identifies the need for collecting new information for accreditation processes.
- After the Measurement and Evaluation Commission transmits the external stakeholder-alumni evaluations to the Continuous Improvement Commission, the achieved and unachieved objectives are compiled into a report, which is then forwarded from the Continuous Improvement Commission to the Accreditation Commission. If the program objectives have not been achieved, or if the feedback from external stakeholders is in line with this, the Accreditation Commission is responsible for updating the report and initiating the measurement period for the new objectives.
- The Accreditation Committee regulates the program objectives and records them in the meeting minutes, which are then signed.
- The Accreditation Committee, in the process of preparing program objectives, is responsible for determining program objectives focused on the careers of graduates, taking into account feedback from internal and external stakeholders of the Curriculum and Education Committee.
