A BRIEF HISTORY

The Middle East and North Africa (MENA) Region is facing increasing emergencies, with more than 30 million people displaced across the region, mainly children. The UNCHR reports that 51% of all refugees worldwide are currently from MENA region. In 2016, the UN Identified 13.5 million Syrians requiring humanitarian help, of which 6 million are internally displaced and 5.5 million are refugees outside Syria. Approximately 3.5 million Syrian refugees migrated to Turkey under the Temporary Protection Policy and around 90% in Istanbul, Gaziantep, Urfa, and Hatay. Gaziantep deeply lives the refugee crisis more than other places in the world & has profound geographical, historical & cultural ties to Syria, especially Aleppo. Now, Gaziantep has the highest concentration of and is providing job opportunities, basic social and humanitarian services, healthcare & education to around 440.000 Syrian refugees. Around 21 percent of the city population consists of Syrian refugees. This international conference by Gaziantep University and its US partner, Global Health Research, Management and Solutions, is designed to better understand and address the urgent needs of the Syrian refugees in Turkey and across the world.
